

Contest Seeks Best Industrial Chain Videos

Webster Industries sponsors “Our Chain in Action” contest to recognize and reward customers who memorialize their industrial chain use on video

TIFFIN, OHIO – A leading industrial chain manufacturer is giving its customers a chance to let loose their inner Steven Spielberg this summer with a video contest highlighting the many uses of conveyor and steel chain products.

“Our Chain in Action’ puts Webster Industries’ customers in the spotlight,” said Dean Bogner, vice president of sales and marketing for the Ohio-based manufacturer.

Contest rules allow customers to submit an unlimited number of videos as long as each submission:

1. Highlights the use of Webster industrial chain or plant-type conveyor
2. Focuses on a completely different subject from the customers’ other submissions
3. Is no longer than 5 minutes
4. Includes audio commentary explaining the operation and type of chain

The contest, which began July 15, runs through 11:59 p.m. EST, August 15, 2014. Additional rules and information can be found on the company’s website.

Webster will select the best videos to post on its website and YouTube channel. The company will then select one of the posted videos as the winner of the grand prize, a $500 gift card to one of several retailers the winner can choose from.

“The contest is a fun way to recognize our customers and their long-standing relationship with Webster Industries,” Bogner said.

Founded in 1876, the Ohio-based company is a leading manufacturer of conveyor chain and industrial steel chain. Visit the manufacturer’s website to learn more about these products and other engineered conveying solutions.